

Increasing the number of media outlets a company can own is a very bad idea. There is no benefit to the public. It is bad for democracy in that it reduces the number of viewpoints to be heard. Also, the airwaves are the property of the people-allowing Clear Channel, Entercom, Fox, ect. to dominate markets would be essentially giving these companies monopolies.